My condolence to the family and close friends of Randy. My purpose in writing is to share a comforting thought found in God's word the Bible. Let us not forget that there is going to be a resurrection of both the righteous and unrighteous (Acts 24:15). Please read the account of what Jesus said and did at Luke 7:12-15 and John 5:28,29.##imported-begin##C Phillips##imported-end##

Dear Kari, I know there are no words that can bring you comfort at this very sad time, but I hope you can feel the love and sympathy that so many of us are feeling for you and your family. I'm sure there are many questions you need answered and many self doubts, thoughts and emotions going through your mind, such as what if.....?, or, if only I.....?, or , why didn't I? Please take comfort in knowing that you are an excellent mom, very loving and caring and truly a beautiful person. You raised Randy as your own from a very young age and you did an excellent job. I remember when we worked ER together, Randy was the light of your life, as well as the topic of every conversation. He was a very blessed boy to have you for his mom. My heart truly aches for you and your family and if love alone could heal your heart you wouldn't be hurting. Please know that you are all in my thoughts and prayers and Randy is now in the arms of the angels. May God comfort you and give you strength to endure. With love and prayers,Susan Evans##imported-begin##Susan Evans##imported-end##
