I've known you my whole life. You & my Grandma (Zola Jean Moss) were so much more than friends. She considered you her sister, she was an only child. You two had so many adventures. They called you "Lucy & Ethel" for a reason. You were my first call when Grandma passed away. You came right over and sat with her until the mortuary came. I'm sure she was there to greet you when you got to Heaven. I will always hold special memories in my heart of the fun we all had. I still have my dolls and care bears you made me.

Meme loved her kids, grandkids, and great grandkids so very much. There's so many memories. When I was little we would color for hours at her kitchen table. We would all color one page and then pass the book to the next person to color another. She always had those windmill cookies. And she had to have milk in her ice cream, which I do now. I don't remember what meat it was she would make, but it always made these little crispy pieces in the frying pan and she'd always give them to me. She always had to watch the price is right. And she loved Elvis. I remember the Footprints in the Sand poem that was on her kitchen wall. It quickly became my favorite because it reminded me of her. As I got older the memories change to her favorite things becoming thrift store shopping, and the jewelry she loved to wear, and her ice water that was more like a little bit of water with her ice. Even though she's not with us anymore, there's so many memories, big and small, that will make me smile for the rest of my life. Love you Meme. So much! Love, Danielle, Haley, Bryce, and Lulu

Marilyn had a huge heart. She was always willing to help me learn to sew. I loved that she lived close by and we could pop in any time we wanted. She raised her son to be the wonderful man that I love so much. She was a one of a kind mother-in-law and will be missed like crazy! I love you Marilyn! Rest in peace.

Grandma Marilyn sure loved her grandkids & kids! She was always involved in some type of sewing or doll project. She really had a talent for arts & crafts! Man oh man could the woman cook! My favorite was her banana cream pie which was a special request on my birthday 😊
Unfortunately I don't have any memories with her much most of my adult life but I sure have many as she was a huge part of my childhood. RIP Love Amal ♥♥♥
