I remember my grandma as being well, not a grandma. She didn't bake cookies but she always had them in cookie jar! I bragged about how smart she is and how she became a nurse at such a age where women didn't go back to school , She did! She fixed everything around the house and she bitched to herself about it, I remember trying to read her lips but she was good at keeping it to herself. My grandma made me feel I could do it! I feel blessed for all the special talks we shared. I wish I did it more,her body gave out but her soul will never. I love you grandma & enjoy your break in heaven from us cuz we'll be with you ,bugging you sooner or later. I'm gonna miss your smile and wisdom.xoxo Love you forever,Barbara.

Grandma loved working outside planting flowers and taking care of them. I am so fortunate to have inherited this trait from her! Love you Grandma!! ❤️😭 ~ Patty (aka Pat. She's the only one who ever called me that!)
