Rest in Paradise Jagger. Life sometimes takes everyone in separate paths, but I will never forget your light and your kind soul. You were a character for sure, and the friendship we had in our younger years I'll cherish now forever. Fly high my friend

Jagger, I don't even know what to say honestly. I could say so much about you. You were always there for me and I was always there for you. We had such a special bond that no one could break. My family and I loved you so much. My Nana and Papa had reservations about certain people but they never questioned you. When you weren't there for a few days they would ask when you were coming back. They would always clown on us and say "When are you gonna brush your hair' lol. We had such a tight bond we would just show up to eachothers house and even if the other was sleeping we would just chill until the other woke up because we know our sleep was important to eachothers health. 💜 So many late nights looking at lights and bonfires under the stars until the sun came up and we would still be up. You showed me more love than anyone else has regardless of anything. We have definitely been through a lot and argued over other people trying to step I our way. At the end of the day though, no one ever broke our bond. And I want you to know you are loved, fully. And I never lost love for you, our lives just took a different path and that is okay. You've taught me so many life lessons and same as I. Music brought us together and I cherish that. Music speaks a lot of words that we are too scared to say sometimes. I'm thankful you made such an impact on who I am today, truly. Without you, I wouldn't be me. You showed me a life I never would have thought was imaginable. Pure love and light and caring for loved ones. I will meet you again someday. Wish you were still here with me creating more beautiful memories. I truly hope you are at peace and living it up wherever you may be. Your soul was so beautiful, I don't doubt that you are destined for a place twice was beautiful as your mind. I love you always and I will see you again my friend. Keep shinging your light down on us now. I'm thankful to have shared this life with you and I cherish every moment spent. I will be content knowing you are one of angels protecting me now. I love you always dude and I will never forget you. Until then my friend.
