We spent a number of years teaching across the hall from one another. We shared notes about farming as we were both involved in spending our Teacher salary on farming practices. Art, you are still one of the best. Some day, we'll share notes again. Jess Sabo

I have fond memories of going to cousin Artie's parents farm when I was about 8 and my sister was about 10 years old. We got to stay at the farm for about two weeks. That was my introduction to what it was like to live on a working farm. Artie was so kind to his younger cousins, always smiling and patiently explaining how to milk a cow or feed the chickens without getting pecked. He was a gentle soul. Rest in peace, Artie.
