I can remember asking Carol for the recipe to the coconut chocolate chip cookies because I thought that they were the best chocolate chip cookie ever she told me the story and how she created the recipe she then gave me the recipe if I promised not to share it with anyone I never get to make the recipe due to the fact that it started with 5 lb of pastry flower I never had a mixer so I could make them and she said you can not divided any more than that I believe I'm the only person that has that cookie recipe she was 12 years old when she created that recipe playing in the bakery

My heart is heavy. Carol and I were great friends. We affectionaley called her chewy Dewey for her good cookies and cakes. Shared a lot of special times together. Took her to a lot of her drs appointments and we would sing hymns on the way. She loved her family and her friends. Just an awesome person. She never left me without say I Love You. Loved you too Chewy so glad you came into my life. RIP far friend. Until we meet again ❤️

My sweet grandma. So full of love and the best advice I will carry with me forever. I'll miss her pies, piano playing, and hugs. I'm so grateful my children were able to experience a little bit of what my childhood looked like. Thank you for my favorite memories, Mema.-Kristina
