Dragan(Dan) Petrovic posted:

So sorry for your loss. Me and Jason have been friends since school and best friends for years. I am in complete shock and am having a hard time processing this. We just talked and were making plans to insulate the garage ceiling. He said he wanted to get some fishing in first which he loved to do. He was my last true long time friend that I don't have now and am extremely sad to lose. May he rest in peace and memories of him live on with those closest to his heart...
